

Prophet Muhammed's death as part of Islam poems poetry evening 2020

The messenger of Allah, the ultimate role model who taught us to always do right

The purest, most pious, respected man, who brought with him so much knowledge and light

One whose beliefs and faith radiated so strongly, Islam took flight

The perfect definition of Islam, he who made Islam bright

A simple, hard-working Prophet (pbuh), surrounded by the inability to read nor write

Yet delivered the divine message, the most honourable book we recite

Born an ordinary man, until a revelation came to him in the night

People who enjoyed ignorance and no righteous law, he was brought up in these sights

Against Abu-Jahl, Abu-Sufiyan and Abu-Lahab to protect Islam, he was led to fight

Despite the aggression and oppression shown to him and his followers, he remained strong and always polite

His faith was firm, his belief gave him knowledge, power and spiritual height

A society that cared not for knowledge and literacy

A society that had no meaning for the word democracy

Where it was a daily struggle for survival, with no compassion, religion or justice

A complete political and spiritual crisis

Our Prophet (pbuh) was raised, rising beyond what he was around

Truth, justice and wisdom in mediation and religion, he found

Al-Amin (trustworthy) and Al-Sadiq (truthful), by age 21, Muhammed (pbuh) was known

After his respect and Integrity was shown
From a young age, with no family, being orphan and alone
The messenger who embodied Islam, gave it character and life
He who no one supported, except Imam Ali (as), and Khadija, his wife Witnessing first-hand the inequities of those near People living in no structure, religion, constantly in fear

Muhammed (pbuh) wanted to find a truer purpose, wanted the path to be clear
He would go to the mountains for reflection, and one day, from the sky he would hear
'Iqra', with the prophet replying I cannot read for 3 times, until he adhered

Describing being held in a tight embrace, not knowing Jibreel had appeared

Waiting to hear more, understanding the message he had to convey Time passed, he waited day by day
Months later, revelations to him again, would begin to display Believing his visions, understanding the values and truths he needed to portray

When commanded to preach openly, not all would agree
But the Prophet (pbuh) would not be stopped easily
The poor, young and oppressed were tortured, not let free
Forcing Muhammed (pbuh) and his followers to flee

Yet, never stopping his teachings from the Almighty Spreading his message, far and wide Showing truth and justice are laws to abide Offering the perfect example, becoming our guide

His heroism and determination, he would continue to provide Suffering his own hardships, losing his parents, even some of his children had died

And being around alcohol, gamblers and those who lied
He allowed Islam to become a religion that accommodates all sides
People from all walks of life, under equal rules, all could reside

A revolutionary man, making faiths and beliefs aligned Spreading the true message of Allah worldwide

With Allah revealing to him لَكُمْ دِينُكُمْ وَلِيَ دِينِ
Meaning 'you have your religion, I have mine'

The first true understanding of different religions, gifted to the Prophet (pbuh), from the divine

With the Prophet (pbuh) showing his patience, and of different beliefs, their design
A man gifted by God, and instructed to read

Teaching lessons, such as in Hadith 552 'the hungry we should feed'
And in Hadith 471, encouraging us to do good deeds
Or even in Hadith 513, the importance of sowing seeds
A legacy that lives on in all humanity today,

Giving the purest example of what is right, and how to pray
One with all the teachings, releasing knowledge in all he would say Tempted with power and money to abandon his beliefs, he would never obey

Remaining steady-fast in his mission- the true word of God to portray Someone who we should all turn to in our lives, in happiness and dismay
With his death at 63, contemplate all he achieved With his belief in equality and faith in God at the core, through the toughest times he believed

A man who was not defined by his death indeed
But by his accomplishments, wisdom and determination to succeed
By spreading the word of God, helping others to redeem

A true definition of a revolutionary social leader, the most beautiful messenger we can conceive
